

ENCORE TICKETS GAINS NEW EQUITY PARTNERS

ISIS Invests In Encore In Founder Led Management Buyout

Encore Tickets has replaced a number of its original shareholders following an investment by ISIS Equity Partners as part of a founder-led management buyout.

The ISIS investment brings the backing of considerable online business expertise in the travel sector to Encore and will help consolidate the company's leading position in the market.

Said Encore Managing Director John Wales: "This move brings on board a perfect alliance partner and gives us the backing to accelerate our growth plans for the future".

Encore Tickets was founded in 2000 by John Wales and deputy chairman Ashley Herman. It is the largest independent theatre agent and last year had record sales in excess of £40 million through a combination of theatre and attraction tickets. Its share of the market has grown by 50% in the last two years and Encore now sells one in ten of all West End theatre tickets.

Ends.
