New Musical Celebrates The Night The 4 Biggest Names In Rock & Roll

There was only one man who could bring that much talent together and that was 'the father of rock 'n' roll' Sun Records legendary founder Sam Phillips. He masterminded the electrifying evening in December 4 1956. Elvis Presley came back to the studio that launched him to stardom and met up with new superstar Jonny Cash, 'Blue Suede Shoes' composer Carl Perkins and Sam's latest signing – Jerry Lee Lewis.

The rest is pure musical history which, with over 20 hits like: 'I walk the line', 'Fever', 'Great balls of fire', 'Hound dog', 'Folsom Prison blues', 'Whole lotta shakin' going' on', and of course; 'Blue suede shoes', is set to be a sure fire groups hit for 2011.

Million Dollar Quartet is currently playing on Broadway and in Chicago, and premiers in London on February 28 at the Noel Coward Theatre in St Martin's Lane, with the first booking period running until October 1 2011.
